Recommendations:

The Whole World Needs Jesus is delightful and inspiring with its rhythmic cadence and beautifully creative illustrations — and the message to GO! I'm thankful to be in the grandparent-ing season and can't wait to enjoy this book with our grandchildren. Thank you!
— Susie Phillips - Grandma from Oregon

The Whole World Needs Jesus is a beautiful book with the best message. Thank you for writing this book which has quickly become my girls' favorite. And the pictures are so fun and funny. We love this book!
— Nicole Stranz - Mother of 3

As an Intercessor, The Whole World Needs Jesus moved my heart. Not just for my need to pray more into missions, but to teach our children and grandchildren to pray for missions and missionaries. Caela Rose did an outstanding job expressing God's heart for His world through her illustrations. Beautiful!
— Christy B. - Women's Bible Teacher

There are some people God just places very deliberately in our paths, that share a similar dream and inspire us that it can be done. And although I've never met her face-to-face, I feel Ann Dunagan is one such person. So when her latest book came in the mail, I was excited to share it with my kids over our poetry and tea time. My kids loved it. The Whole World Needs Jesus was written as a call to the Great Commission in a way even the youngest can understand. I love Ann's ministry and heart for missions that can be felt behind every word. As a veteran homeschooling mom of seven who traveled around the world with the message of Jesus, Ann ignites so much hope in me that my family will be able to do the same as we endeavor to make the treasured commission of our Lord Jesus our first priority in this life. She shares her well of wisdom on podcasts for Mission Minded Families as well and has written books to equip families. Because..."God's call is for all." — Ruby (Joye) Dicharry, TheJoyefulJourney.blogspot.com

Back Cover — With a summary of the book, bios, and an excerpt of the book's rhyming text

The Whole World Needs Jesus is a delightful read-aloud book your whole family will enjoy! Train your kids to love the Lord and to love others, with a heart for God's Great Commission!

Who will take the Good News
To all those far away?

Who will help?
Who will give?
Who will kneel down and pray?

We all have a part,
So just lend a hand!
Till the message of Jesus
Has reached every land!

ANN DUNAGAN is a mom – with seven kids, (plus married-in-kids and amazing grandkids). Since co-founding Harvest Ministry in 1987, Jon and Ann and their family have traveled and shared the love of Jesus in about 100 countries and on every continent – starting new churches and caring for orphans. Her books include The Mission-Minded Family and Hand Commands.

CAELA ROSE DUNAGAN is a self-taught artist, working toward a Graphic Design degree at Liberty University. She enjoys global adventure – travel, missions, surfing, paddleboarding, kayaking, and long-distance running – along with painting whimsical wall murals and entertaining little nieces and nephews on her ukulele.

It's a children's book focused on The Great Commission (target age is about 4-8) and the message and illustrations can be enjoyed by the whole family.

This can be a tool for parents, grandparents, children's ministers, Christian schools, homeschooling families, missionaries and mission organizations.

It could encourage missionaries on the field (both missionary grandparents and parents with young children) — and also could be a tool for missionaries to give to supporting families or churches, as a gift of gratitude (and to encourage missions in the churches they visit)

Other world mission topics include:

- God's love for so many people all over the world
- God's love for all ages, all cultures, all geographical areas
- God's love for both the rich and the poor
- The need to share with others — and to not be greedy
- The need to share the Gospel with unreached people

- Different cultures around the world
- Different languages around the world
- The uniqueness and preciousness of every person
- Funny food people eat around the world

- What is sin?
- What is the Gospel of Jesus?
- Why should we go?
- How can everyone be involved in God's Great Commission

Sample wording...

In God's eyes each person
Is wonderfully made
So to witness and share
We should not be afraid.

With the power of His Spirit,
We can be BOLD
For the Gospel to everyone
Must be told!
